

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

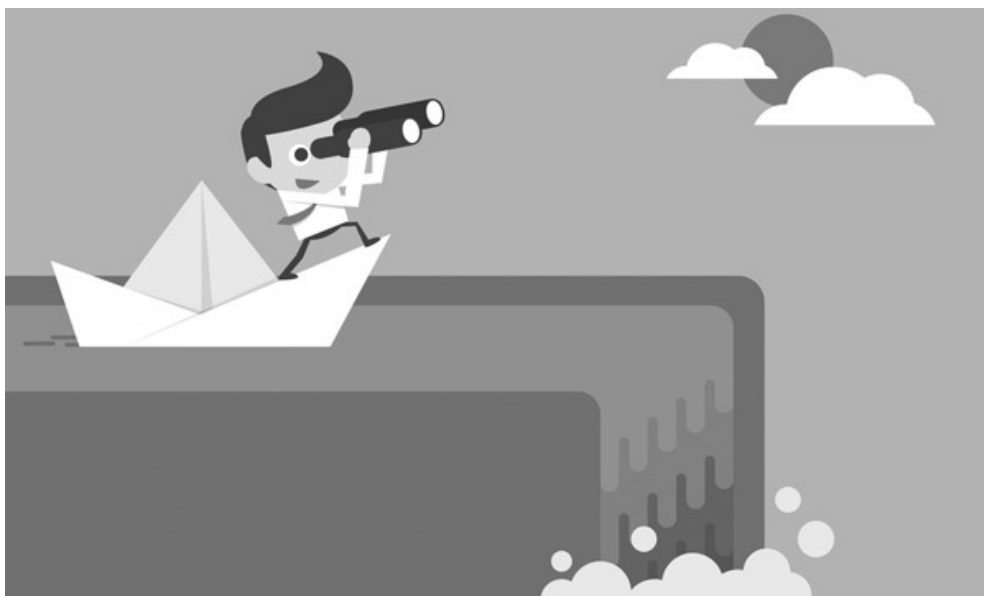

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What obstacles are in your way?

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What obstacles can slow a job search?
- How can you overcome these obstacles?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about emotions, opinions and behavior in a work situation.
- I can talk about hypothetical situations in the past.
- I can talk about what I will be doing or what I will have done.

Let's Explore!

John gave a substantial amount of money to charity last year.

* "Substantial" means something is very important or worth a lot.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Announcer: Hello and welcome to "Practical Advice", the show that gives you substantial advice about everything. Today we are going to dive into job hunting. By the end of the program, you will have heard about job hunting techniques for later on in life and you will have heard from my guest, job hunting expert Rita MacNeil. Rita welcome.
- Rita: Thanks for having me.
- Announcer: If we had met before, we would have had you on sooner. You will be starting your own podcast next month called "Your Personal Best". Is that right?
- Rita: Actually, it's called "The Best of You". If you had listened to it, you would have known that.
- Announcer: Right. Now, Rita, you will be releasing your fourth book on this subject?
- Rita: No, this is my third.
- Announcer: Right. It's a very far-reaching topic. People will have changed their jobs several times in their lifetime.
- Rita: Yes, the focus in the job market is more on temporary contract positions than on full-time jobs.
- Announcer: Right, you also write about age discrimination in the workplace.
- Rita: Yes, my studies have disclosed that older individuals tend to spend twice as much time looking for jobs than younger people do.
- Announcer: Are there many obstacles facing job hunters?
- Rita: Oh yes, not only discrimination, but having to acclimatize to the new technology. Me personally, if I had taken more computer courses in college, I would have been better off than I am now.
- Announcer: You would have also been better off if you had listened to your kids when they explained Facebook.
- Rita: Perhaps.
- Announcer: We will be coming back after these messages.

Let's Practice!

Rita talks about how to find a job.

Instructions: Complete the sentences with the words provided.

Word Bank

you had listened / would have / If you had read
/ had listened / have / listen / had taken

1. If we had met before, we _____ had you on sooner.
2. If you _____ to it, you would have known that.
3. Me personally, if I _____ more computer courses in college, I would have been better off than I am now.
4. You would have also been better off if _____ to your kids when they explained Facebook.
5. _____ my books, you would have seen that topic.

Let's Practice!

The announcer explains what is going to happen on the show.

Instructions: Read each of the sentences. Write FC (Future Continuous), FP (Future Perfect) or N (Neither) according to the verb tense you observe each sentence has.

1. By the end of the program, you will have heard about job hunting techniques for later on in life. _____
2. You will have heard from my guest, job hunting expert Rita MacNeil. _____
3. You will be starting your own podcast next month called "Your Personal Best". _____
4. People will have changed their jobs several times in their lifetime. _____
5. You will be releasing your fourth book on this subject? _____

Extension Activity

Tell me about your career plan!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a career plan for your current job or the job you are studying for.
- Where would you like to be in 6 months, 1 year, 3 years?
- What obstacles are in your way?
- Write a career plan that describes what you will be doing or what you will have done.
- Read your career plan to a partner.
- Your partner can give suggestions.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I make plans for the future.

☐ ☐

I think about my career analytically using the Future Present Perfect and Future Continuous.

☐ ☐

I write a timeline for my goals.

☐ ☐

I give suggestions and advice to my partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to dive into (verb): to start something suddenly e.g. Today we are going to dive into job hunting.
- far-reaching (adjective): affecting many people or things e.g. It's a very far-reaching topic.
- discrimination (noun): practice of discriminating e.g. You also write about age discrimination in the workplace.
- to disclose (verb): to reveal e.g. My studies have disclosed that older individuals tend to spend twice as much time looking for jobs than younger people do.
- acclimatize (verb): to become accustomed to a new climate or environment
e.g. Not only discrimination, but having to acclimatize to the new technology.
- substantial (adjective): considerable amount e.g. Hello and welcome to "Practical Advice", the show that gives you substantial advice about everything.

Learning Points

The Third Conditional

There are four types of conditional sentences in English:

1. Zero Conditional - used to talk about certainty and facts
2. First Conditional - used to talk about real possibilities in the present or the future
3. Second Conditional - used to talk about unreal possibilities in the present or the future
4. Third Conditional - used to talk about unreal past situations

You use the third conditional to talk about unreal situations in the past.

These are things that did not happen in the past. You often use the third conditional to express regret.

Look at the chart below for the structure of the third conditional:

Conditional Name	Structure	Example
Third	If + Past Perfect, could/would have + past participle	If we had met before, we would have had you on sooner.

Examples:

- If we had met before, we would have had you on sooner.
- If you had listened to it, you would have known that.
- If I had taken more computer courses in college, I would have been better off than I am now.
- You would have also been better off if you had listened to your kids when they explained Facebook.

Learning Points

The Future Continuous Tense vs. The Future Perfect Tense

You can use the Future Continuous tense to talk about actions that will be in progress at a particular time in the future.

You can use the Future Perfect tense to talk about an action in the future that will already be completed by a specific time in the future.

For example:

I will be working at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

The person will start work at some point in the future and be working at 4 p.m. It is not clear when the person will stop working.

The structure of the Future Continuous is:

Subject + will + be + verb -ing

Rita, you will be releasing your fourth book on this subject.

The Future Perfect is similar to the Present Perfect tense, but your viewpoint is in the future instead of the present.

For example:

You can bring me the report at 8 a.m. I will have arrived at the office by then.

The plane will leave the airport at 9 a.m. You will arrive at the airport at 9:15 a.m. When you arrive, the plane will have left.

The structure of the Future Perfect tense is:

Subject + will + have + past participle

People will have changed their jobs several times in their lifetime.

Examples:

- By the end of the program, you will have heard about job hunting techniques for later on in life and you will have heard from my guest, job hunting expert Rita MacNeil.
- You will be starting your own podcast next month called "Your Personal Best".
- People will have changed their jobs several times in their lifetime.
- We will be coming back after these messages.

